Kingsoft launches close beta testing for The First Myth II

(March 6, 2008 – Hong Kong) Kingsoft Corporation Limited (“Kingsoft” or the “Company”; SEHK stock code: 3888), one of China’s leading entertainment and applications software developers, distributors and service providers, announced that the Company has launched close beta testing for the highly anticipated massively multi-player online role-playing game (“MMORPG”) The First Myth II today. The open beta testing is expected commencing by the end of April 2008.

The First Myth II is the second installment of the original First Myth series. It is one of the company’s self-developed MMORPGs. The First Myth II allows users to build and participate in continuously evolving kingdoms and allows for competition among kingdoms across server groups. This game will also incorporate advanced features such as magical weapons and armor. The game built on the success of The First Myth I, which recorded daily average peak concurrent users of 91,822 and monthly average paid users of 415,403 in the first quarter of 2005, when the game was officially launched.

Speaking of the close beta testing of The First Myth II, Mr. Zou Tao, senior vice president of game development of Kingsoft, expressed his excitement and expectation on the second installment of the game: “The First Myth series is one of the most popular games in our portfolio. The first installment created its record number of peak concurrent users of 180,000 in February 2005. We believe The First Myth II, with a host of new features, will continue the successful story of the First Myth series and stir excitement among game players and the online game industry in China.”

Other popular games of Kingsoft are the self-developed JX Online series and licensed games Xian Lu Qi Yuan II and Shui Hu Q Zhuan. The diverse portfolio of Kingsoft’s entertainment software continuously contributes a significant portion to the Company’s revenue. For the three months ended September 30, 2007, the daily average peak concurrent users for all of Kingsoft’s five MMORPGs reached 529,794 and the monthly average paying users amounted to 1,035,371.

Kingsoft has launched a new self-developed MMORPG CQ in the third quarter of 2007 and is currently developing five new MMORPGs in-house, which are expected to be launched at regular intervals in 2008 and 2009. With its strong R&D capability and facilities in Beijing, Zhuhai, Chengdu and Dalian, the company seeks to shorten the game development cycle to capture the market growth and to continuously enhance game technology to strengthen its foothold in the game industry of China.
